ECONOMIC PARLEY SPEED IS ROOSEVELT'S AIM

Roosevelt To Seek Speed In London Parley

Wants Results Without Long Delay At Economic Conference Next Month

MAY ELIMINATE LOT OF SPEECHES

Discussion Of War Debts May Be Dragged In And Block Quick Action

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 20.—President Roosevelt is going to insist that whatever is done at the world economic conference be done quickly. To that end, the American delegates will be instructed to press for speed from the moment King George opens the epochal parley.

International conferences are notoriously long drawn out affairs. The speeches are interminable, and the recesses frequent and lengthy. That will be changed at London, if the Americans have their way.

Mr. Roosevelt himself stressed the need for quick action in his peace message to the world this week.

Cannot Wait
"The world economic conference," he said, "will meet soon and must come to its conclusions quickly. The world cannot await deliberations long drawn out."

From the standpoint of sheer numbers, the London conference will be the greatest ever held. Sixty-six nations in all have been invited to send representatives.

If the usual custom is carried out of having the head of each delegation address the conference at the outset, it is pointed out that several weeks will be required for these

Says U. S. Holds Arms Conference Solution

(International News Service)
GENEVA, May 20.—With the hurdle of Germany's acceptance of the British disarmament plan already accomplished, the United States held up today as the guiding force to successful conclusion of the disarmament conference.

In an address before the general commission of the conference, Dr. Giuseppe Motta, former president of Switzerland declared:

"It is now up to the United States to pull the conference through."

In a lengthy speech, Motta congratulated President Roosevelt and Chancellor Adolf Hitler on their peaceful declarations, which have given the conference a greater impetus than it has received in months.

The American attitude will be revealed by Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large, next week. He is expected to announce American agreement to a consultative pact embracing all other nations.

Bonus Marchers Will Sign Up As Forest Workers

Those Remaining At Washington Camp Decide To Enlist Now

BONUS CAMP WILL END ON MONDAY

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Whimsical as ever, the bonus army was tall-timber bound today, and liked it.

All the boys were joining up in President Roosevelt's forest army. They had to do a policy back-flip to sign on the dotted line, but a week in Washington has provided a pretty fair political background.

That business of refusing the president's offer of three meals and a dollar a day in the forests was all a mistake.

It seems—so the leaders say—the whole trouble was the men didn't understand the thing. Of course, three square meals were assured, but then, a lot of marchers couldn't just recollect what a good square meal felt like on the inside.

With a week of army mess calls behind them, the forest job improved in appearance. It looked so good that a regiment of embryo foresters was fast taking the bonus army out of the play.

Parade Is Mild.
The much advertised bonus parade came off four days late, and fell considerably short of specifications.

The marchers stayed away from the parade in droves. Hardly a thousand of the 2,500 veterans concentrated here participated.

Cuban Federal Troops Seek To Quell Revolt

(International News Service)
HAVANA, May 20.—With federal troops massed in anticipation of new clashes with rebels in four of Cuba's six provinces, the island republic celebrated its 31st anniversary of independence in an atmosphere of extreme tension.

Havana itself was quiet, but reports reaching the capital from outlying provinces told of ceaseless federal activity to put down insurrectionary movements.

Federal troops in Santa Clara swept through the province today, conscripting horses and rounding up other supplies in preparation for a drive against scattered insurgent bands which have taken refuge in the hills.

The drive in Santa Clara was under the leadership of Major Arsenio Ortiz. The latest flare-up reported was the dynamiting by rebels of the Esmeralda bridge of the Cuban Northern railway.

Banker Missing For 24 Hours Is Located Today

Widespread Search For Missing Banker Ends This Afternoon

IS DISCOVERED AT ROSLYN, N. Y.

Feared Today That Suicide Had Been Contemplated By Harriman

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 20.—Joseph W. Harriman, founder of the closed Harriman National Bank and Trust Company, who has been missing for more than twenty-four hours, was found safe at Roslyn, L. I., this afternoon.

Harriman was located at the Old Orchard Inn at Roslyn. He had spent the night there. He had registered as "Mr. Thomas."

The missing banker apparently had been wandering in Long Island following his disappearance at 11 o'clock yesterday morning from a sanitarium in New York City where he was being treated for physical and mental ailments.

Harriman had explained to the clerk at the hotel in Roslyn that he had come down from Connecticut for a drag hunt, an idea he apparently got from reading the signs along the Long Island roads.

Harriman, aged and enfeebled, who was scheduled to go on trial here Monday on charges of falsifying the bank's accounts to the extent of $1,661,170, penned half a dozen suicide notes yesterday before vanishing from the Regent Nursing Home, in East Sixty-first street, where he had been undergoing treatment for nervous and physical ailments.

Only Vague Clues
Police threw out a dragnet, searched the East river, watched the highways, ferry boats, railroad trains and ocean liners but twenty-four hours after the banker's disappearance there were only vague clues.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Garden making has been resumed by New Castle folks on a large scale, it is observed. Many garden makers failed to get their things in before the rainy spell set in, and they are now working overtime, with the advent of good weather.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne has been having a "terrible hard life" of it for several days, at least as far as his official life about the city building has been concerned. And it was all because of the fact that his offices on the second floor have been undergoing a thorough house cleaning.

The mayor had found himself obliged, while this was going on, to "sit around" around most any place.

Sounds good to hear the consistent puffing of locomotives along the railroads in this district these days. Traffic on the railroads seems to have been increased to a large extent, judging from the sound of the moving trains.

Persons who wish to get a first hand knowledge of what's what at Cascade Park can hike through the center Sunday. The park is recognized as one of the most beautiful in this section.

People who are sick, or who are kept confined these days are to be remembered on "National Flower Shut-In Day" which will be observed June 10. Home flower gardeners (Continued On Page Two)

Breaks Bottles On Road; Must Pay State Penalty

Merle Crothers, of Verona, Pa. is spending ten days in New Castle, but not as a special obligation. Merle is spending the ten days in the county jail in a nice cool cell where he can meditate upon the fate of practical jokers.

Merle was riding a truck on the Youngstown road, not as a pay passenger. He had also been drinking something or other that made him playful. Having nothing to do and all afternoon to do it in he decided to toss out some whiskey bottle he had to see if they would bounce.

They didn't.

State Highway Patrolman Sarko happened along about the time the bottle tossing incident was under way and promptly "put the tin" on Crothers. Alderman Jas. C. Brice's sense of humor doesn't run to broken glass on the highway either and he fined Crothers $25 or ten days in jail.

And so Merle is visiting in New Castle for ten days.

Forest Recruits Leave For Camp Friday Evening

Crowd Gives Cheering Farewell To 310 Youths On Departure

BOARD SPECIAL TRAIN FOR TRIP

Destination Of Group Is Fort Washington, Md., To Serve 6 Months

New Castle crowds roared a cheering farewell for the 310 "forest army" boys of New Castle and the counties surrounding when they entrained last night on a nine-coach special train of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for their overnight ride to Washington, D. C. where today a government boat whisked them down the Potomac river to Fort Washington, Md.

At the South Mill and Division street freight depot of the B. & O. where the delegation boarded the train, and in the seventh ward, where the train halted a while before leaving, well-wishers packed the streets and all available standing room just to shout to the group "good-bye."

March to Train.
Just before train time the entire regiment, bag and baggage, marching in two from city hall to the B. & O. freight depot. Three army sergeants led them.

Arriving at the terminal, the 310 were massed together while special army officers, associated with the Pittsburgh branch of the service, (Continued On Page Two)

Newport Society Shocked By Facts In Jelke Divorce

Divorce Case Is Adjourned Today, Will Take Up Testimony Monday

CHAUFFEUR GIVES DAMAGING TESTIMONY

(International News Service)
NEWPORT, R. I., May 20.—Newport society found other things to do today—it being a court holiday—while Mrs. Eugenia Jelke, 27-year-old former southern beauty, and her counsel were preparing for a final siege in Nini's counter divorce suit against her 52-year-old broker husband, F. Frazier Jelke.

Mrs. Jelke, niece of the late United States Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, was expected to take the stand when court reconvenes on Monday.

FOREST FIRE THREATENS MAINE TOWNS

Hundreds Battle To Check Flames

Village Of Centerville Is Enveloped—Thousands Of Acres Burned

OTHER TOWNS ALSO FIRE THREATENED

(International News Service)
AUGUSTA, Me., May 20.—A dozen Maine towns and villages were in imminent danger of destruction today as forest fires raged through woods and timber growth.

Thousands of volunteers waged an ineffectual fight against the flames. Forest Commissioner Neil Violette declared the situation was alarming.

Village Enveloped
The village of Centerville was enveloped in dense smoke as a fire which had burned over thousands of acres swept to within a mile of the community.

Three hundred men were frantically attempting to halt the flames before they reached the village. Another fire was sweeping toward Denmark and surrounding towns as firemen and several hundred volunteers fought the blaze.

The town of Hiram was in the path of another fire which was racing unchecked.

Jonesboro was menaced by a blaze which has been raging for three days. A stiff wind has swept this fire over a wide area.

A dense woodland growth owned by the Eastern Pulpwood company was destroyed in this area.

speeches alone. They are usually pointless and filled with platitudes anyway, and Washington would just as soon see them eliminated in the interests of time-saving and expediting the actual work of the conference.

Some Preliminary Work Done
Considerable spade-work already is under way with a view to shortening the proceedings. Preliminary negotiations are now in progress aimed at stabilizing the dollar, the pound and the franc, as well as obtaining an agreement concerning silver.

How much the collateral discussion of Europe's debts to the United States will operate to delay the proceedings remains to be seen. Each of the debtors is planning to make its obligation to the American treasury an all-important factor in the situation, although the discussions will be outside the conference proper.

The Italian proposal for scaling down these debts 80 per cent was read with interest and little enthusiasm in Washington today. It was regarded as something of a "real balloon" to test American sentiment. Such a settlement would stand no chance of ratification by the American congress.

Sail In 11 Days
With the American delegates due to sail in eleven days, President Roosevelt has still to complete the personnel. He had a lengthy conference with Secretary of State Hull at the White House late yesterday on the subject, and various names were discussed. But if there was any final decision it was not announced.

To date, the delegation comprises Secretary of State Hull, Ex-Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, Prof. Raymond Moley, and Senator Key Pittman, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee. Three or four more will be selected in the course of the next week.

Former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson is under consideration as a Republican member, as are several Republican senators, among them Hiram Johnson of California, and James Couzens of Michigan.

FOREST RECRUITS LEAVE FOR CAMP FRIDAY EVENING

took a roll call to account for every lad. And none was missing. In groups of 40 they boarded the eight all-steel day coaches backed up from New Castle Junction, and wasted no time in making themselves at home. For them the cars were welcome for it had been a tiring 12 hours the excited group had gone through.

Trainmaster J. L. Shriver of the B. & O., from Akron, was aboard to make sure the boys found comfort and to start the train at its scheduled time. It left the seventh ward as a separate train, following No. 10, crack Washington limited, about 9:30 o'clock, daylight savings time.

To Serve Six Months.
Not for six months—until November—will the boys see New Castle or their homes in Mercer, Butler and Venango counties again, and naturally, it was an occasion that strained the deepest emotions of many a mother. Fathers were on hand, standing close by the coach their son occupied until the cars began to move.

At the front of the special was a baggage car for the boys to use. Dr. G. S. Bennett, chairman of the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board, upon whom has fallen the work of assembling local recruits, was present to bid each boy farewell and to give army officers aid when needed. Dr. Bennett, with other volunteer leaders, worked all of Friday with the army men as they held medical examinations.

Upon reaching the Fort Washington camp sometime today, the boys will settle down for two weeks of rigid outdoor training before entering some Pennsylvania forest for a half year of life in the thick of timber.

ber. No announcement has said where the forest camp will be located.

A bit of army routine will be on the daily calendar in the army camp for the delegation, but during a part of the two weeks instruction will be given in the rudiments of tree planting, soil treating and other phases of forestry work. They will be prepared to begin forest work on arrival.

Of the 310 who left last night, 100 were New Castle young men. Another 310, selected from the same four counties, will leave about May 29.

Every one of the recruits was between 18 and 25 years of age. And every one looked happy.

Fine Group of Recruits.
Major William Buerkle and the group of recruiting officers of the United States army, in charge of the examination of the "forest army" recruits were profuse in their expressions of appreciation of the manner in which the recruits had been prepared and the type of men supplied.

According to Sergeant Walter McKelvey, who has been in charge of the local U. S. army recruiting station for some time, the group assembled here yesterday for examination, were the finest group of young men that has been examined in the local district up to the present time for service in the forest army group.

Special mention was also made by the officers working on the examination of the excellent condition of the papers prepared for each of the recruits in the Lawrence county district. The papers, according to the recruiting officers in charge of the entire group here, were good, but those of the Lawrence county group were especially good.

Sergeant Walter McKelvey stated that there had been 335 from the four counties examined and of this number five were rejected. The rejections were based largely on physical defects not of a permanent or really disabling character or defects that could not be corrected, but defects which might have interfered with the life and work of the group in the woods.

Those who did, walked, lamblike, from the monument grounds to Pennsylvania avenue, waited while their committee of five called on the president, continued to a spot near the capitol and disbanded.

Mr. Roosevelt didn't urge the veterans to join the forest conservation when their committee called on him. He did say he would veto a bill for payment of the soldiers' bonus if such a measure was sent him at this time.

Fort Hunt will be turned into a forest army conditioning camp after noon Monday. After that time, the bonus marchers must check out as marchers or sign up as foresters. Mr. Roosevelt assured the veterans these conditions would be enforced.

did not bite the ear of her wealthy husband in a fit of anger as alleged but because he acted like a "caged lion" and "knocked" her to the floor.

Mrs. A. H. Woodward, 56-year old mother of Mrs. Jelke, and Emil Harry Anderson, her chauffeur, gave testimony for Nini. Anderson, in a deposition, related his experiences while driving for the Jelkes on a tour of France. He told of Jelke insisting on taking "Nini" to see "a show" at a French house against her will; of Jelke calling his young wife "all the names he could think of," and of the broker taunting Mrs. Jelke for "being without financial means and dependent upon him."

"I guess you are going to leave me when your grandfather or aunt dies," Anderson quote Jelke as saying to his wife.

Jelke's taunt and language brought tears to his wife's eyes, Anderson said. Jelke called his wife a "gold digger," according to Anderson. His depositions showed that Jelke struck Mrs. Jelke and on one occasion made a bump on her forehead. He said that Jelke was nagging her all the time, and that Jelke used infamous language many times.

BANKER MISSING FOR 24 HOURS IS LOCATED TODAY

home after his personal fortune was wiped out with the closing of his bank, to his son's grave in Locust Valley, Long Island, on the theory that Harriman might kill himself near this spot.

Suicide was his intention, according to his attorney, George S. Leisner, who told of the banker leaving the notes in his room at the Locust Valley hotel. Grief would have led him to the Locust Valley cemetery, it was believed, because he never recovered from the death of his son, Joseph W. Harriman, Jr., in 1928.

Although detectives watched the cemetery all night and this morning they saw no trace of the missing banker.

Easy To Identify

The East river locale was also thoroughly searched and people living along the river's edge questioned but chief efforts brought no results. Infirm from a long illness, sick in mind and body, the sixty-eight year old banker presumably should be an easy figure of identification with his hobbling walk and stooped shoulders.

When last seen, Harriman was walking eastward from the sanitarium toward the East river which is only a few blocks away.

A large captain, James Simpson, and his wife, said that around noon yesterday both of them had observed an elderly man with gray hair and gray moustache, walking with difficulty, approach the dock and gaze for a long time into the river.

Mrs. Simpson, who was taking a sun bath on the barge, noticed him particularly. She said that after restlessly walking up and down the dock for almost an hour, he walked away.

During that time, according to the French thesis, there should be no increase in existing armaments, when the period has expired, drastic measures may be undertaken if it has been proved that the warlike spirit in Europe has been successfully crushed.

Success of the transitory period would depend upon the manner in which the League of Nations is able to enforce its decisions and how signatory nations comply with the provisional treaty they sign.

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

A RESOLUTION
WHEREAS: It is foolishness for a man to be trusting in this world, because too many people will betray the trust he imposes on them.

WHEREAS: The honest man sees his dishonest fellow go ahead of him and succeed where he has failed.

WHEREAS: Humility is too often mistaken for cowardice, and the humble man is abused and mistreated by the arrogant.

WHEREAS: The man who goes his own gait in this world and does not clutter up his life with obligations, wives, children, love and regard for the rights and responsibilities of other people, frequently achieves wealth and power.

WHEREAS: The cynic plays the safest game and is never surprised by the meanness, sluggishness, callousness and wickedness of human beings.

WHEREAS: The pessimist draws more joy out of life than the optimist because he expects nothing and is rarely disappointed.

WHEREAS: Children grow up and leave their fathers and mothers lonely in their old age.

WHEREAS: Love, more often than not, lasts but a little while.

WHEREAS: We can find no positive evidence anywhere on this earth, that there is anything beyond this life or this mortal scene.

THEREFORE: Be It Resolved.

That the wise man will reject these earthly considerations that rise from weariness, headaches and the disorder of his liver and will trust his fellows, be honest, make friends and keep them, consider that optimism brings happiness on marriage, have children, and believe that there is something more in life than he can know with his eyes and his ears and his little brain—and that thus he will come unregretting and joyously defiant to the end of his days on earth.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

HOME WORK FOR EVERYONE

Disagreeable little jobs, such as have to be done in any home, cause dissension in your home because you are unwilling to do your part.

Senses, it seems to you, to have to do dirty, messy jobs at home. But your pleasure and comfort would be greatly lessened if you were to abandon them.

The trouble is that you are selfish and don't want your own comfort interfered with; and you want to forget that one has to do some little things in a home that are not always agreeable from a personal standpoint.

Each member of a household has a duty to perform, essentially individual yet for the good of the whole family.

Often it is pure thoughtlessness that causes so much neglect and an attitude of "let George do it."

Few of the home folk really wish to be mean and lazy. They just slump when it comes to doing for the home.

A spirit of retaliation won't get the desired result of interesting them enough to secure from them the service each member of the family should give at home.

Doing a favor, when the opposite treatment is expected, sometimes brings about a change of heart; or a quiet, heart-to-heart talk between individual members has been known to help toward understanding and results.

TOAST TO US ALL

Here's to us all and our strength to rebuild.

What we view now in sorrow! Here's to our dreams that are yet unfulfilled.

And here's to tomorrow Out of the wreckage now strewn all about.

We shall rise to new glory. Today, with its difficult problems and doubt,

Is but half of the story.

Here's to us all and our courage to meet.

Despite scorners and scoffers And set-backs and heartaches and seeming defeat—

Everything which life offers. There are goals to achieve which shall better the past.

In these days terror-haunted. Here's to the faith we possess to stand fast.

Unafraid, and undaunted.

Here's to us all and our heritage rare

Of good heart for disaster; The pioneer spirit to do and to dare Until right shall be master!

Here's to our age-old traditional trait

Of high courage unbroken! A toast to our patience to work and to wait

'Till the last word be spoken.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:13. Sun rises tomorrow 4:40.

Hated Is Almost As Bitter As That Which Comes Out of the Heart of a Disappointed Woman.

It is claimed that over 200,000 young women and girls are tramping over this country and these vagabond gals are giving the government a lot of concern. We don't like that a bit.

Dear Fred: There never was as much talk of world peace. There never was as much signing of peace treaties and the like. Peace is in the air—we are all talking it, breathing it, dreaming it. And so, I understand, the devil, down in Hades, is very, very busy getting ready for a big rush of war business.

GLOOMY GABE.

Many strange things may happen in times such as these, but we doubt whether the exchange desk of any store has had the amazing experience of having to take back a woman's bathing suit because it had shrunk.

An egg cooker has been invented that will cook an egg square, just right to fit a piece of bread. Most people are more concerned about getting an egg these days than the shape it can be cooked in.

An American is a man who knows how to manage the country and wishes he knew how to manage his kids.

It now looks as though one six-year-old we know, who is a fundamentalist where dirt is concerned, will grow up to be a garage mechanic.

"A New Hampshire cow knows how to turn on the lights and get herself a drink." And, being a frugal New England cow, she is probably careful to turn them off again.

A dead man was blamed for the wrecking of the airship Akron. We never liked the idea of blaming the dead even if they were guilty.

Don't Kick On Your Job. All Mother Gets Is The Food She Cooks, The Clothes She Makes, And The Washing She Does Herself.

TRY IT

Some say that folks are selfish. That they wouldn't help you out. But when your hat blows from your head

You'll have a cause for doubt. A dozen men and women Will scramble and will fall To bring your bonnet back to you For a "Thank you," that is all.

There has been discovered in Boston a type of lowlife who, fairly well heeled himself and having a bank account, has been taking aid from the city. No doubt other municipalities have them also. A good hot call in a nice hot jail with stale bread and warm water seem to be indicated.

There will be a lot in the Congressional Record of this session to which members are not going to point with pride.

LET THE COWS BEWARE

When Stephenson was explaining his idea that a locomotive could run along a track and draw cars after it, someone objects:

But suppose a cow gets on the track? "So much the worse for the cow," said Stephenson. There's a world of philosophy in that reply.

Most of us bother too much about the obstacles on our track of life, and believe too little in our power to overcome them. The man who gets anywhere is the man who sweeps obstacles out of his way. Yes, it takes courage and grit and faith; but if you haven't these qualities, your train is likely to be sidetracked.

Men who mope when they come to a hill never generate the power to go over. Men who wrestle with sorrows and setbacks and discouragements will go over or through every mountain in their way.

Chances Are The New Acquaintance, Who Is Glad To Meet You Because He Has Heard So Much About You, Can't Prove Anything.

IF

If you come to a place that you can't get through.

Or over or under, the thing to do is to find a way round the impassable wall.

Not say you'll get YOUR way or not at all.

You can always get to the place you're going

If you'll set your sails as the wind is blowing.

If the mountains are high, go round the valley;

If the streets are blocked, go up some alley;

If the parlor car's filled, don't scorn a freight;

If the front door is closed, go in the side gate.

To reach your goal, this advice is sound;

If you can't go over or under, go round.

Hay fever patients, we understand, are starting a campaign to block the annual outcropping of asthmatic wheezes that are "passed off" casually by the scribbling with. We sympathize with them. If you're out of a job and looking for something to do, here's a suggestion for a brand new circus act, something you didn't see in the Sells-Floto show—the friendship of a lion and a goat.

It ought to be a money-getter.

There's one fellow that's been trying it out and even went so far as to approach a circus manager for a contract.

"But don't they quarrel sometimes?" the circus man inquired.

"Oh, yes, they have their little quarrels," came the reply, "but then we buy a new goat."

Just What Mental Effect Publicity May Have On You Depends Upon What You May Have Been Doing.

We read of a bird who invented some sort of a contraption that will tame wild beer when it is tapped. Often have the kegs got away before it can be subdued. And at that some mighty tame beer gets wild.

Scientist As Harvard Head
Stirs Recollections Of Eliot

Comparatively Young Educator Has Opportunities Similar To Those Of Earlier Executive For Comprehensive Plan Of Development

Parallels between the career of former President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard, and that of Dr. James Bryant Conant, chosen by the college corporation for the presidency, are found by the public. Finding both among products of the scientific world, and observing that each represented selection from the ranks of younger educators, observers speculate as to the probability that the newly designated executive will exert as great an influence upon the cultural interests of the students as did his famous predecessor, who was also a pioneer in the use of the elective system.

A striking parallel between the two is pointed out by the SAN ANTONIO EVENING NEWS, which observes that Dr. Eliot "transformed higher education" and asks: "Is it to be expected that under Dr. Conant's leadership, America's oldest university will undergo another revolution? Will it become more and more a scientific, and less a cultural, stronghold? Such a prospect might be disconcerting to the older alumni, but they need not fear. Almost any university would benefit by a new infusion of scientific spirit and, besides, the chemist usually has balance." In taking up the same question, the NEW YORK SUN voices the judgment: "In the career of Eliot there was nothing to suggest that specialization narrowed a man; he did not turn Harvard into a mere technical laboratory. He did remodel the curriculum, but not into a finality. Rather, he reformed it into plasticity. Lowell maintained the policy of expansion and liberalization."

Dr. Eliot did not neglect any field of university scholarship," says the SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) REGISTER, and Prof. Conant is presumably been chosen because he is believed to have the same broad gift of administration and the same sympathy with all-round scholarly progress." The BOSTON TRANSCRIPT similarly comments: "The mere fact that Dr. Conant is an eminent scientific affords no ground for belief that he will give any undue emphasis to undergraduate study of the material sciences. Dr. Eliot, also, was a chemist in his early years, but there appears no basis upon which we can connect that fact with the particular features of his administrative policies; and certainly he was a wonderful administrator. His genius, his policies, his type of wisdom, were his own. The same has been true of his able successor. And the same, doubtless, will be true of the coming president of Harvard's career."

"A true scientist," declares the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL, "constantly is experimenting in search of new truths, and cannot fail to be impressed with the wonders and glories of this world. Life in all its phases is his constant study." That paper adds that "a man who is a master of organic chemistry could hardly be anything but a humanitarian." The YOUNGSTOWN Vindicator comments: "Many who have felt that modern universities are too much given over to science and other 'practical' subjects to the detriment of courses which have to do with life and human nature, would have liked to see a president whose principal interest lay in the humanities. It is possible, however, that a scientist may also be a humanist and this is what they trust Dr. Conant will become."

"When the University of Chicago in 1929," according to the ROCKFORD REGISTER REPUBLIC, "called 30-year-old Robert Maynard Hutchins from his chair as dean of the Yale law school to become its president, higher educational circles, while recognizing Dr. Hutchins' talents, looked askance that one so young as he should be chosen for a position of such great responsibility. Now historic old Harvard has, in large measure, followed suit by naming Prof. James Bryant Conant, who is just 40, president; to succeed the veteran A. Lawrence Lowell, retired. Dr. Conant has been Sheldon Emery professor of organic chemistry and a member of the Harvard chemistry board at Cambridge. Almost any university would benefit by a new infusion of scientific spirit and, besides, the chemist usually has balance."

Heavy Penalty For Unpaid Sales Taxes In State

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, May 20.—Opposition was seen mounting today against the one per cent sales tax which has returned only $8,974,644.19 of the $12,000,000 expected.

Approximately half of the 20,000 merchants who took advantage of the 45-day extension period failed to complete payments on May 15. Lack of money was given generally as an excuse.

Investigators of the department of revenue have started checking on delinquent payments. Further extensions cannot be granted and violators of the law will be charged 12 per cent interest.

Secretary Leon D. Metzger said the 10 per cent penalty will not be imposed in cases where voluntary returns and payments are made. The 12 per cent interest from April 1 will be applied in all instances.

question whether or not the Judge sees fit to establish a liquor ring in the interest of brewers and distillers. It is only a question of whether the man has a legitimate restaurant of any kind and he obtains a license.

Speaking of license in the sale of beer, why not a license for the sale of soda water or any other commodity that is a luxury. There is no more reason to look upon a liquor business as a means of paying the National debt than any other business.

In the event the Eighteenth Amendment is eventually repealed, the country will have learned the lesson from the present method of licensing beer sellers—that all the dirt, filth and political corruption of the old drinking days can be avoided.

Quiet Session Of Stock MarketFew Changes In Stock
Prices In Trading At Day's SessionSTEELS ARE AIDED
BY NEW SHOWING(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 20.—The stock market today developed into the quietest session since the inflation boom started more than a month ago with the bulk of the list showing few price changes of importance.

A few rails, notably Delaware and Hudson, Kansas City Southern and Lackawanna, were strong. D. & H. running up a couple of points. The oils likewise continued to reflect the stimulating influence of the administration's effort to control production and ruled higher.

The rest of the market, however, was dominated by a combination of restraining factors as further strength in the dollar, another decline in commodities and the subsidence of speculative enthusiasm on the eve of the Senate's banking investigation next week.

Wheat led the new decline in commodities, losing a cent a bushel more. Cotton dropped 50 cents a bale. Silver bucked the trend, running up about 40 points.

Bonds quoted down also in sympathy with the stock market.

The steels were steady, aided by a fresh rise in operations in leading steel centers, but failed to make any worthwhile progress on the upside.

Leaders like Du Pont, American Telephone, Allied Chemical and others were under the influence of further profit-taking and evening up for the week-end.

Railroad shares showed firming tendencies as the session wore on, aided by the strength in individual carriers and the first increase over the previous year in today's traffic report.

Dome Mines was up substantially in the gold mining list, while the others were neglected. Coppers were quiet and moved in a narrow range. Farm stocks sagged with grains.

Utilities were in the doldrums as traders relegated the group to the discard again following the recent dividend difficulties. Standard Gas was weak.

Allied Chemical showed none of its recent volatility. General Motors was firmer after about the heavy selling of the last few days, but the auto list was generally easy. Packing stocks quieted down after yesterday's flurry.

Oils came in for profit-taking in the second hour and eased from their highs.

Executrix Is Sued For Alleged Debt

Case Grows Out of Farm Deal Made By C. W. Jackson And C. A. Martin

Charles W. Jackson has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Bessie G. Martin, executrix in the estate of the late Charles A. Martin. In 1925 Jackson was cashier of the Peoples National Bank of Ellwood City, and Charles A. Martin was president of the board of directors.

It is set forth that they entered into a partnership to purchase the farm of 115 acres in North Sewickley township, Beaver county, for $20,000. The farm was underlaid with coal and they expected to lease the coal and plot the land.

In financing the transactions money was borrowed on notes and mortgages. Each was to pay half and share equally in the profits. The transaction did not turn out well and instead of a profit there was a loss. Jackson claims that he advanced over $14,000 in settling up the affairs of the partnership, and that the estate now owes him $7,274.15.

The Peoples National Bank of Ellwood City has also filed a suit against Bessie G. Martin, executrix of Charles A. Martin, to recover $4000 on a note given by Martin.

The light is used in protecting the school children having occasion to cross the street, at the various times of day, when they are enroute to and from school. It is on the longest between five minutes to twelve o'clock, noon, and 1:30 p. m. It will be advisable at all times for the motorists to be governed by the light signals of this light, when they are observed to be turned on.

Pupils' Gardens On Exhibition Friday

Oak Street Awards Prizes To Best Displayed; Nature Study Project

Hoping to awaken an interest in gardening among the Oak street school pupils, nature study classes of the building yesterday awarded coveted prizes for the best displays in a school wide model rock garden exhibition.

Directed by Miss Martha Muse, nature study supervisor, the contest opened some time ago when pupils made plans for their gardens in the classroom. At their homes they made the miniature gardens, bringing them back Friday for judging.

In planning and judging the gardens, general appearance of the plants and stone, attractiveness and originality more than the selection of the plants as to quality, were considered, teachers said.

School prizes were distributed as follows:

First school prize—Won by 6A, Donald McNicholas

Second school prize—Won by 5A, Donald Kemp

Third school prize—Won by 5B Arthur Jay

Six report room prizes were won by:

Grade 6A: First, Howard Rowland; second, Carol Jean Rakestraw; honorable mention, Edgar Francis Grade 6B: First, Robert Campbell; second, Marjorie Walker.

Grade 5A: First, Gaylord McEwen; second, Betty Schetrom; honorable mention, Geraldine Fallwood.

Grade 5B: First, Katie Fugas; second, Florence Swartzlander; honorable mention, Lucille Shoaf.

Grade 4A: First, Billy Thorp; second, Joe Vanassa; honorable mention, Earl Carr.

Grade 4B: First, Betty Rowland; second, Lenore Knoblock; honorable mention, Leslie Kemp.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Kannenberg, Mrs. Burkert and Mrs. Raney.

Yankees Play Best At Home

Yanks Would Win Flag If They Played All Of Their Games At Stadium

SENATORS-WHITE SOX DANGEROUS

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 20.—The New York Yankees won the American League pennant last year in Yankee stadium and they are going to do the same thing this season, judging from the success of their present home stand against the invaders from the west.

Slaughtering the western clubs in his own ball orchard is manager Joe McCarthy's recipe for winning pennants. Last year the Yanks got no better than an even break against Washington in 22 games but they played better ball at home, winning 62 games in New York while the Nats chalked up 51 wins at the capital. Those 11 extra victories at home explain why the Yankees were 14 games ahead of the third-place Senators at the close of the 1932 race.

White Sox Good
The same thing is happening again this year. While the Yanks have won all three of their home games against the west, the Senators have gotten no better than an even break in four starts.

The rejuvenated Chicago White Sox, who murdered Washington yesterday for their second win in three starts in the east, appear to be the lone western entry capable of breaking up New York's supremacy at Yankee stadium. Whether they can do it will be learned next week.

Cleveland, the west's other strong entry, has gone to pieces in the east as usual. They have won only one game in five starts and they chalked up their lone victory on the result of an error.

Roy Mahaffey of the Athletics held the Indians to five hits yesterday winning 9 to 2 for his third victory of the season in as many starts.

Brennan Wins Fourth
Big Don Brennan, portly Yankee rookie and ex-undertaker from Maine, made the St. Louis Browns play dead, fanning 12 batters. He had to be rescued by Penneck in the ninth when Gerns homered with two on base, but was credited with his fourth straight victory, 6 to 5. Dickey and Chapman also hit homers. Chapman's blow which traveled over 400 feet, drove in what proved to be the winning runs.

Applying, Kress and Webb got nine of Chicago's 17 hits as the White Sox buried Washington under a 10 to 1 landslide. Paul Gregory held the Nats to six hits.

Two doubles by Davis featured two Detroit rallies as the Tigers trimmed the Red Sox 7 to 5.

Cards Top Giants
Thanks to Ott's homer with the bases full, the New York Giants got off to a five run lead over the Cardinals but lost the game 8 to 7. A pinch double by Rodgers Hornsby featured a five run rally in the eighth when St. Louis tied the score. A single by Pat Crawford, another former Giant, won the game in the tenth. The Cards tied Cincinnati for fourth place.

Zachary and Seibold of Boston stopped Pittsburgh 5 to 3 the Braves knocking Waite Hoyt out of the box. The Pirates had won four straight.

Chuck Klein's homer off Red Lucas in the ninth with one on base staked the Phillies to a 5 to 4 win over Cincinnati. It was Klein's seventh homer.

The Cubs and Dodgers were rained out.

Heroes-Goats In Big League

(International News Service)
The heroes—Chuck Klein, Phillies, and Pat Crawford, Cardinals. Klein's homer in the ninth enabled the Phils to nose out Reds, 5 to 4. Crawford's hit broke up a 10-inning game between St. Louis and Giants.

The goat—Ted Gullic, Browns. Was fanned four times in succession by Don Brennan, Yankee rookie.

Grid Official

Suffering From Fractured Ankle

Football Official, Grove City College Registrar, Hurt At Game In Farrell

(International News Service)
SHARON, Pa., May 20.—An off-season football game pit H. O. White, registrar at Grove City college and prominent Northwestern Pennsylvania football official, on the recuperating list today.

White was clipped by a player during the third period of the Farrell-Strothers grid game last night. He received a fractured ankle.

Strothers won the game in the fourth session, rallying to score a second touchdown and come from behind a 7-6 count to win, 13 to 7.

Ramey Wins Over Harry Dublinsky

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 20.—Dublinsky is a hard man to beat, Wesley Ramey, Grand Rapids, Mich., outstanding lightweight, said on the eve of his fight with Harry Dublinsky. (The boys had met before and Ramey knew.)

A statement like that coming from the conqueror of Champion Tony Canzoneri is a credit to any boxer. Dublinsky justified the commendation here last night when he extended Ramey in dropping a split 10-round decision.

The Chicago Hebrew fought Ramey neck-and-neck down to the closing rounds when the latter spurred to record his slim margin. While Ramey jolted Dublinsky often with a long, hard left to the head, he absorbed plenty of body punishment on infighting.

Referee Red Robinson settled a disagreement between the judges by casting for Ramey.

Eastman Will Try For Record

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—Yes or no? "Blazin' Ben" Eastman, one of the greatest runners in history, stage a comeback? The injured Stanford record smasher expected to answer that question himself today in the 800-meter race of the annual Pacific association championship meet.

For two months "Big Ben," who set a new world's record for the 800 meters at 1:50 here last year, has been on the shelf suffering from a sprained leg muscle.

Here And There In Sports' Land

Kid Chocolate of Cuba retained his featherweight championship when he defeated Seaman Watson of Great Britain in 15 rounds last night in New York. The Kid counted repeatedly with slashing left hooks which the Briton could not stop.

Wesley Ramey was given a 10 round award over Harry Dublinsky last night at Pittsburgh. The referee's vote gave Wesley the award.

Jockey Hilton Dabson suffered a head injury when his mount, Gad-around, fell with him in the second race at Bowie yesterday.

George Lott, Jr., and John Van Ryn, U. S. doubles team clinched victory for the U. S. against Canada in the North American zone final of Davis cup by turning back Dr. Davis and Marcel Rainville, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3 at Montreal.

Chocolate Retains Featherweight Title In Bout At New York City

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 20.—First, they would not let him fight here until he'd given a private pre-view in a gymnasium. Then, in the ring, they made La Barba 5-1 against him.

At the end it was 3-1 against La Barba, meaning two judges and a referee. And, finally, last night Seaman Watson, the Englishman with that strangely warped and seamy countenance, was within one punch of the featherweight championship of the world—a la New York.

But he didn't land it. He didn't even let it go. And while he stood there in a profound reverie, Kid Chocolate came on in the late rounds to "bull" his way to the decision—a la New York.

Chocolate Through.
Personally, I thought Watson won. But the officials kept right on thinking in spite of me and they paid on that.

However, straight, place or show in last night's fight, Chocolate on his performance is finished. Below weight all through his training, he amazed the ringsiders in his apathy and lack of speed. He couldn't un-track. He floundered in his foot-work. Even his sharp, clean hitting had given place to wild, aimless swings and only in flashes did he look in any way the part of a champion.

One of Mahoningtown's largest and most active organizations—the Mahoning Athletic Association—had an important meeting in the Christopher Columbus hall, South Liberty street, Friday night. The Association consists of 151 members; it has taken a prominent part in the Lawrence county sporting circle during the past several years.

Fifty-three members were present last night. Eighteen new members were initiated.

Chairman Peter Cardella presided.

The Association's by-laws were gotten together, voted on and accepted.

The gun club committee reported its findings of the last month. The committee promises indoor and outdoor shooting matches for the summer. Traps will be arranged and this will furnish an interesting sport for many of the members.

Work will also be launched for the building of a tennis court soon.

Chairman Cardella recommended that all members of the Mahoning A. A. participate in the parade which is to take place here on Memorial Day, May 30. The Mahoning A. A. has been invited to parade along with the Christopher Columbus society and the West Pittsburg society. This is an annual event.

A four-team baseball league within the membership is another project that will be developed soon. A report on this will be given within a week by the committee in charge of arrangements.

Although the next regular meeting is not until June, it is probable that Mr. Cardella may call a special meeting. Announcement will be made in The News.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Undoubtedly it is important to get good stone for rip rap purposes, but it seems almost a shame to use good looking stone such as they are taking out of the Neshannock Falls quarries just now. It might be on order for a king's castle or a brewer's bungalow. Sure good looking stuff, with colors running from pink to brown, traced through the stone.

Just now they are sizing some dimension stone for bridge work at the Pymatuning and the blocks as though they were being taken out for a bank or a post office. There isn't any prettier stone in the country.

The boys are taking no chances on attack it seems. The boys hauling beer we mean. One truck from Scranton went up Jefferson street yesterday, headed for the highway west. Inside were cases, lots of them, and seated in the back of the truck was a rather tough looking hunk with a much tougher rifle across his knees.

Looked as though he might have been hauling cases of bullion or government securities. And from the business like look on the young man's face it might have been healthy to attempt a little hijacking.

A hen is a determined sort of creature with none too much sense. Chickens or ducks are all the same to her if she wants to set. Just now we're interested in an experiment being conducted by a duck fancier who has ten Mallards hatched out by a hen.

Mallard ducks are among the aristocrats of the duck world, or maybe you know, which may account for the fact the old hen is giving them. Either that or she certainly doesn't recognize any difference. Out at the game farm there are some sixty Mallards that refuse to leave the farm, and this idea has tempted others to try out some eggs.

You can't just raise Mallards like you raise ordinary chickens or umptrellas. Uncle Sam wants to know all about it and you must first procure a migratory bird permit.

Without your knowledge perhaps, there was a circus playing New Castle last night, the grounds being up on Pearson street. The youngsters of the Aiken school presented a circus that would have had John Ringling down for the count, with nothing nearly as much expense as Ringling would have needed.

The animals were made from heavy paper, and the equestrians and clowns were the kids of the school. It had evening circus carry with the exception perhaps of a ring master that could crack a whip like a rifle report.

The quarters were cramped and the spectators had to climb up and down stairs, but if you ask any of them they will tell you that the circus was a howling success.

WHY HE'S AGAINST DAYLIGHT SAVINGS

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, May 20.—Francis H. Hoy, Jr., warden at the Dauphin county jail, cast a negative vote in a recent poll conducted by the local chamber of commerce to determine the sentiment toward advancing the clocks an hour for daylight saving time. His reasons:

"We have 120 guests, and most of them go to bed at 7:30 o'clock. They object to going to bed before dark, and I agree with them. As the inn-keeper, I protest for them."

Whether or not Warden Hoy's vote influenced the chamber's decision is a matter of conjecture. Harrisburg remained on Eastern Standard Time.

WHY HE'S AGAINST DAYLIGHT SAVINGS

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, May 20.—Francis H. Hoy, Jr., warden at the Dauphin county jail, cast a negative vote in a recent poll conducted by the local chamber of commerce to determine the sentiment toward advancing the clocks an hour for daylight saving time. His reasons:

"We have 120 guests, and most of them go to bed at 7:30 o'clock. They object to going to bed before dark, and I agree with them. As the inn-keeper, I protest for them."

Whether or not Warden Hoy's vote influenced the chamber's decision is a matter of conjecture. Harrisburg remained on Eastern Standard Time.
